Community bank recognized in annual workplace rankings from the Puget Sound Business Journal and Seattle Business magazine

LYNNWOOD, WASH. – Pacific Crest Savings Bank was recently recognized as one of the top places to work in Washington by the Puget Sound Business Journal (PSBJ) and Seattle Business magazine in each of the publications' annual best workplaces rankings.

This year, Pacific Crest Savings Bank was included for the first time in Seattle Business magazine's 100 Best Companies to Work for 2018 ranking. The organization was awarded within the "Small Companies: 15-49 employees" category, which recognized companies that set the standard for work environment, rewards and recognition, employee benefits and executive leadership.

Pacific Crest Savings Bank was also recognized in the Puget Sound Business Journal's Washington's 100 Best Workplaces of 2018 ranking, which awards companies of all sizes for their shared commitment to fostering healthy office cultures.

"We are so honored to be named among our state's best places to work," said Sheryl Nilson, president and chief executive officer for Pacific Crest Savings Bank. "What makes these recognitions particularly rewarding is our employees' role in earning them. Their contributions and commitment to our clients and community are a big part of what makes this a great place to work. We're proud of the environment we've created and are honored that our employees have recognized us."

Thousands of employees across Washington participated in both publications' anonymous surveys to determine the rankings. Pacific Crest Savings Bank was proud to have 100 percent of its employees participate in the surveys to evaluate the organization's culture, benefits and leadership.

In addition to its workplace awards, Pacific Crest Savings Bank was also named as one of the region's most community-focused businesses. For the second year in a row, the bank was included in the top 25 companies on the Puget Sound Business Journal's Small Business Corporate Philanthropy list. As part of its commitment to its community, Pacific Crest Savings Bank supports several causes including Housing Hope, the Jewish Federation of Greater Seattle, Seattle Children's and Clothes for Kids through its time, resources and employees' involvement.
